We had a smaller than expected turnout for our annual trail maintenance project in Lowman. Nonetheless, the crew we had worked hard and we almost completed the work we needed to do.

Carl hauled the club's trail maintenance trailer up to the camp so we would have all the saws and tools we needed. We had a thunderstorm and a little rain very early Friday morning, which settled the dust a bit.

We removed several downed trees, cut several more leaners, and trimmed back the brush where necessary. Found a little snow up on Miller Mountain, but nothing we could not get through. The campfire gathering Friday night was very entertaining. Big thanks to everyone who came up and helped with this annual job, you are very much appreciated.
